

Golden Slipper Begins To Gleam

A tradition of GSCW will be carried out when the freshmen compete with the sophomores on November 19 for the possession of the Golden Slipper. The Slipper is held at present by the sophomores of last year, who are now juniors.

Each of the classes is now preparing a play, either an original or an adaptation, to present in the contest. Members of the classes will be responsible for the success of their play. A new ruling this year prohibits the faculty adviser from taking part in the actual production of the play.

Production of the sophomore's play will be under the direction of Janes Sparks, a senior. Senior advisers are Frances Walker and Frankie Ridgeway. The faculty adviser is Miss Meaders Betty Boyd is writing the play.

Committees and chairmen for the sophomore class are as follows:

Stage crew—Helen Wallace
Posters—Mathilda Roughton
Costumes—Lois Corry

Phoenix Names New Members

Four new members of the Phoenix Society have been selected from the senior class. They are Beulah Brown, Faye Hancock, Florence Hooten, and Doris Proctor.

This society is composed of approximately the upper seven per cent of the students of the senior class. Only about the upper three and a half per cent were selected at this time as the remaining portion will be chosen after grades for the winter quarter are on file. Phoenix is the only organization on the campus which is sponsored by the faculty as a whole. The Phi Beta Kappa members of the faculty serve as a permanent committee to select the students and are a part of the society.

Members who were selected last spring and who are still on the campus are Jane Bivins, Dorothy Mann and Hilda Pope.

Private To Appear On Appreciation Hour

Private Joe Glassman will appear on the regular Appreciation Hour Wednesday, November 17, in Russell Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Glassman is a violinist and is stationed at Robbins Field in Macon, at the present time. He is a four-year fellowship holder from the Julliard Graduate School of Music in New York City. He has appeared in concert as soloist and with renowned string quartets throughout the country. He was a member of the Erno Rapce Symphony Orchestra at Rockefeller Center for two years. He has also played with other famed orchestras as conducted by Kostelanetz, Reisman, Warnow, and Himber.

Dr. Joseph Maerz, pianist and accompanist for Mr. Glassman, for a long term of years, has been the director of Wesleyan Conservatory of Music in Macon. He has appeared in concert in the U. S., Canada, and Mexico. He has appeared in Russell Auditorium on former occasions.

The Colonnade

MRS. S. C. KETCHIN, JR.

Colonnade Editor Weds Ens. Ketchin

Jewell Willie, editor of Colonnade and a member of the Senior Class, is no longer Jewell Willie. As of November 1st, 1943, she is Mrs. Sammy Cathcart (Sonny) Ketchin, Jr.

It seems that Sonny and Willie have been next-door neighbors in Louisville, Georgia, for ever so long and have known for almost as long that someday they would be Mr. and Mrs. Ketchin. So when Sonny received his commission in the Navy on October 28, they decided there was time to be married before he left for active duty. They were married in Aiken, S. C., last Monday and are spending their honeymoon in Louisville.

Ensign Ketchin graduated in June from Erskine College, where he was editor of the college paper, the Mirror. He has just completed a special training course for the Navy at Northwestern University.

THANKSGIVING WILL BE THEME OF SENIOR DANCE

The traditional Thanksgiving Turkey will be in his glory Saturday night when he presides over the Senior Dance from the place of honor over the big window in the gymnasium.

In the leadout which is under the direction of Betty Cheney, the couples will pass over a stile through a giant pumpkin.

Music will be supplied by recordings.

Flo Finney and Sara Kirkland are chairmen of the dance. Evelyn Davis is chairman of bids. Co-chairmen of decorations are Lotie Wallace and Frances Walker.

Seniors and their dates are invited to attend a buffet supper before the dance Saturday night. Eleanor Douglas is supper chairman.

Hart, Little, Brantley, Logan Elected To Freshman Offices

College Theatre Series Opened With "Arsenic And Old Lace"

By JUNE CAROL JONES

A hilarious plot and a cast capable of bringing the characters to life made the College Theatre production, Arsenic and Old Lace, by John Kesselring, a real success.

The play, under his direction by Miss Edna West, was presented to a capacity audience Thursday night.

Arsenic and Old Lace is the story of the two Brewster sisters who mix cocktails of strychnine, cyanide, arsenic and elderberry wine to help their poor lonesome male friends find peace and happiness. Complications arise when a long lost brother returns to the Brewster home with a new face, a criminal record, and a corpse. Of course, there's a romance, and a happy ending for all except the villainous brother. The coup de grace comes when the twelve corpses rise from their graves in the cellar to take a bow in curtain calls.

All receipts from the play were given to the American Theatre Wing War Service for the benefit of Stage Door Canteens.

The cast was as follows:
Abby Brewster—Jane Sparks
The Rev. Dr. Harper—Capt. C. G. Cole
Teddy Brewster—Max Noah
Edith Harper—Mary Boyd
Officer Brophy—Sk. 3c John J. Campo
Officer Klein—Sk. 3c John A. Babick
Martha Brewster—Jeanne Peterson

UPPERCLASSMEN VOTE TO ACCEPT HONOR PLAN

Louise Smith, chairman of Honor Committee, announced that more than 90 per cent of the members of the sophomore, junior and senior classes voted to accept the honor system in academic work.

The acceptance of this system places the responsibility of neither giving nor receiving help in academic work which is unauthorized by the faculty member.

Sophomores Elect Mayes And Quinn

Sophomore class held their fall election for their new class secretary and treasurer. The following were elected:
Evangeline Mayes, secretary
Nona Quinn, treasurer.
The Junior Class elected for their new vice-president, Betty Armour of Columbus, Ga. She replaced Jerry Glover, who didn't come back to school this year.

CHAPMAN AND POWELL DEFEAT MURPHY, SMITH

Beth Hart decisively defeated Jane Knowles in the runover held Wednesday, for freshman class president, as they polled 148-82 votes respectively. Presidential nominees eliminated in the primary election Monday were Mary Helen Sperry, Joan Smith, and Jo Miller.

Other officers elected were: Harriet Little, vice-president; Miriam Chapman, secretary; Mary Elizabeth Brantley, treasurer; Anna Logan, Representative to Court, and Minniebell Powell, Representative to Council.

Harriet Little, winning over Sunny Hancock with a 31 vote margin, was chosen vice-president. Miriam Chapman defeated Isabel Murphy for treasurer, 155 to 93, in the only race to be decided in the primary election.

Mary Elizabeth Brantley received 64% of votes cast to win over Saradelle Turner, thereby becoming Freshman treasurer.

Anna Logan polled 156 of the 233 votes cast, decisively winning as Representative to Upper Court over May Jones.

Carolyn Smith lost to Minniebell Powell as Representative to Council. They polled 96-137 votes.

Nominees eliminated in the primary held Monday were: vice-president, Olive Smith; treasurer, Betty Shimmer; representative to court, Ann Cordeil and Ora Spivey; representative to council, Ellen Blackburn.

BOESEN PUTS PHOTOGRAPHS ON EXHIBITION

Dr. Paul J. Boesen is an amateur but his "hobby" is so well developed that his pictures have a decidedly professional touch. Members of the faculty and student body who saw his exhibit in the Library last week were at once delighted with his ability to catch light and shadow and with his pictures' vivid effects.

One of Dr. Boesen's favorites is a picture of Pete—a southern dandy who has worked at GSCW for some time. This is a close up view of his face and was so well photographed and developed that all the shine and wrinkles are vividly evident.

A favorite of many is a side view of the court house. It is titled "Southern Portico" and is a very impressive picture which emphasizes the charm of southern buildings.

"For Rent" is a delightful photograph of a bird house high up in an apple tree which is in (Continued on Page Five)

Bandage Rollers Combine Business, Pleasure

"Did you know Mary was getting her ring next month and Becky had the biggest old fuss with Tom 'cause he didn't call her up last night, and Joyce and Harry are like that?"
"Not I don't waste time poking my nose in everybody else's business, I roll bandages."
Just what have we been missing by not going to the surgical dressing room? We have a time to go, but most of us seem to think we just can't miss that show. That boy somewhere may be lying in a foxhole waiting for us to finish having a good time, and roll a bandage. Only a clean bandage for that shrapnel wound on his leg, but how much that would mean to him.

If we fold a bandage late
There'll be no need to fold it straight.
The Red Cross needs us now.

BREWTON BROODS

"Did you ever think as the hearse went by
That some of these days you're going to die?
And when you're dead and gone to dust
Who's to remember you on this earth?"
And why?
Gussome, aren't we? But, do slow up in your mad rush to nowhere long enough to look at his list of things for which once famous people will probably be remembered when "history grows dim."
Gladstone—a traveling bag with an especially wide mouth.
Paul Jones—a brand of whisky.
Prince Albert—a stuffed coat, very long, formal and never unbuttoned.
Bismarck—an especially fat German rump steak, not popular now.
Goethe (pronounced goat-ee)—form of chin beards once worn in Arkansas.
Lincoln—a car, and a highway.
Wellington—a long foot, with a high sole.
Henry Clay—a cigar.
Jefferson—a hotel, avenue, or post-office.
Napoleon, Washington, Caesar, Samon—trade names used in the plumbing business for bathroom fixtures.
Marie Antoinette, Josephine, Marie Louise, and Eugenie—trade names in ladies' underwear.
Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John—side streets in Montreal.
John Hancock—synonym for signature.
Joqueimint (a French general)—deep crimson rose.
Queen Ann, Louis XIV—periods of furniture.
Queen Mary—a ship.
Henry Grady—a hotel.
Ponce de Leon—an avenue in Atlanta.
Hoover—makeshift cart used in southern rural districts during the depression, known as Hoover carts.
Sir Walter Raleigh—pipe tobacco.
Moral? Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow you may die, and when you're gone people probably won't remember you anyway.

The World This Week

By MILLIE BUNDY

Highlights of the week just passed were the announcements of the decisions reached at the Tripartite Conference in Moscow. It was especially significant since it was a reflection of Russian attitudes as well as British and American.

At this meeting, which Russians insisted should be held in Moscow, China was also represented at some of the twelve meetings, and signed the declaration that pledged the creation of an international organization to maintain future world peace. Representatives at the meeting were Cordell Hull, Anthony Eden, Vyacheslav Molotov, and Foo Ping-sheung. They did not discuss the possibility of a meeting between Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin.

The American, British and Russian representatives agreed to the organization of a European Advisory commission to sit in London, and to make recommendations on continental problems; provided for future Tripartite meetings and discussions; created an Italian advisory commission with the French Committee of National Liberation as a member and provision for the later participation of Greece and Yugoslavia; guaranteed restoration of Austria; and agreed to the principle that all German officers and men or Nazi officials who were responsible for, or who consented to, atrocities, massacres, or executions in the occupied territories, should be sent back to the land in which these acts were committed, and be tried by the laws prevailing there.

Cordell Hull was extremely enthusiastic about the general attitude of collaboration which prevailed at the meeting, and felt fully fortified against any possible advocates of isolation after the war.

Boarders, Jams, And Chicken Make Book

By HAZEL SMITH

Chicken Every Sunday by Rosemay Taylor is one of those comedy novels! The author relates the "goings-on" in her mother's boarding house.

There is a story about each boarder. A couple is secretly married and the way the mother finds out is a tale you'll never forget. One rich boarder loses her fortune, and is forced to be their cook.

The father is always speculating on some wild scheme but strangely he always makes money. Before they decided to have a boarding house, he was always away on a trip. When he returned, he had to sleep on the floor because mother had rented their room!

They move around from town to town and somehow manage to establish a boarding house everywhere they go. They once established a club for boys next door and that's when mother got a new coat! (No, Pop didn't buy it!)

This novel is just the type with which to curl up on a boring day. Your boredom will dissolve and you'll be glad you have "Chicken Every Sunday!"

How To Write To That Boy

"Everybody in the outfit was feeling kind of low. Our mail came, and the next day was our second big battle. The mail made a lot of difference in the way that battle went. Everybody went into it feeling good—they had heard from home."

No artful blurb, this, from the facile typewriter of a Washington publicity man. Those are the words of a battle-hardened combat soldier, recorded by men of the Army's Special Service Division during an investigation to discover the kind of mail soldiers like to get. Multiply that statement a thousand times and you'll understand why Army officials consider mail from home the greatest little morale-builder ever invented.

There's such heap big medicine in a V-mail envelope from Dubuque that unsentimental Army men are prepared to use the whole might of the armed forces to assure its delivery. For the first time in the history of the war, a boy in a slit trench can get—by airmail, no less—his page of ardent nothings from Janie in Sioux Falls. The Army tenderly cradles a shipment of mail on every ship and plane leaving this country. From rear installations in combat areas, planes shuttle the mail to the most advanced foxhole. In North Africa, one Army Post Office on a much-bombed airfield dug its quarters fifteen feet underground—and the mail went through.

Thousands of former civilian postal clerks, bristling with pistols and Tommy guns, and specially tutored in the ways of Army mail, do their jobs so well that a letter addressed simply to "Tex, Machine Gun Company, ..... Camp," actually reached the soldier.

What's the soul-nourishing vitamin in a letter from home? Interviewers of the Army Service Forces grilled thousands of servicemen on this point. The answers provide an infallible recipe to follow when you're writing to your own servicemen.

Family chit-chat, news of friends, home-town gossip—these are the basic ingredients. The boy wants to know how the family is doing financially, and that you're busy as a beaver shortening the war on the home front. Don't forget to tell him, in a manly sort of way, that you're all crazy to have him back.

Spare him your worries; he has his own. Don't mutter about civilian hardships; his are worse. Be happy and newsy. Is your letter fit to be read in a foxhole? Then you've written a piece that Steinbeck couldn't better. Send snapshots, of course, but when you photograph Mother, be sure she's not posed winsomely in front of an important arsenal. The enemy is sly at sifting information from such little things.

IRC To Discuss Post War Problems

Having United States and the world situation as the program theme for the year, the International Relations Club will meet Friday night at 8:45 in Miss Helen Greene's apartment. At the last meeting the club discussed the reasons for the United States entry into the war. They will continue this plan in the meeting Friday when post-war planning will be introduced.

Post-War Position Of Women Defined

Since the first of September, 1939, women have been taking an increasingly large part in what was once called "A Man's World." Women have been building ships, airplanes and munitions for the men who were once doing the job themselves. Though the introduction of women into the work world on so large a scale was not necessarily through choice, the women have shown almost without exception, that they can do a man's job as well, or better than a man.

But with this development of woman power have come many problems, not the least of which is the problem of the post-war position of the feminine worker. The ordinary thought on the subject has been that at the end of the war woman's place will "rain in the home."

Recently, however, Dean William Bowling of the College of Liberal Arts, Washington University, in an address welcoming new students brought forth a new thought on women at work. Dean Bowling said, ".....They (college women) alone have the privilege of training themselves for efficient and effective service in the post-war world."

As Dean Bowling suggests, the period when we will cease to be dependent on women for work once done by men is not to appear immediately upon the demobilization of the Army and Navy. The men who have been trained for Army life cannot be expected to pick up highly technical and specialized tasks immediately. That will be up to the women who have taken this opportunity to prepare themselves for, in the words of Dean Bowling, "the age of the college woman."

Possibly, it might be suggested that the solution will not be found in exclusion of women for certain jobs by the old edict of tradition, but instead, let individual ability and training determine the status of the individual. —Student Life, Washington University. —Associated Collegiate Press.

Wesley Foundation Has New Director

The Wesley Foundation for 1943-1944 is now fully organized. The arrival of its new director on October 30 has completed the organization. Miss Dorothy Stevens from Varina, North Carolina, is a graduate of Greensboro, N. C. She has had experience in youth direction and remained home at the beginning of the term in order to organize a Youth Fellowship in her hometown church. Dorothy, Dottie, Dot, or Steve, is what everyone calls her.

The Motive Drive has been going on, and there is still time for a few late subscriptions. The Barrett Snuff program must be a sponsor for something so it chose Motive Magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Rudisill entertained at a reception in honor of Miss Stevens at their home Sunday afternoon. All Methodist students and faculty were invited to meet her.

GREENE SPEAKS AT CURRENT AFFAIRS

The attendance at the current affairs supper has been recently increasing, the number present at the last one being 25. The next supper is to be Thursday night, November 11, at which time Miss Greene will talk on India. All persons interested in going are asked to sign up in the "Y" apartment by noon Wednesday. Charge for the supper is 15 cents. It will last from 5:30 to 6:30.

—Miss McFar, Be sure to sign up in the "Y" apartment by noon Wednesday.

Y sponsor—ing of thrillers. Halloween party all kinds and costumes that occasion. With all the dancing, telling of fortunes, and going through the hall of horrors, there was a definite Halloween atmosphere.

Virginia Olsen was chairman of the planning committee for the party.

JOHN "Y" TREASURER

Virginia Olsen has been elected Treasurer of Y to succeed Louise Smith. Louise Smith is now chairman of the Honor Committee.

Food, Books, Supplies, Provided Soldiers Through Service Fund

Students of GSCW have again taken the opportunity and responsibility in the wide participation in the World Student Service Fund. In the drive which ended Friday night $565 was pledged. This money will help unite students all over the world. Faculty pledged $800.

The World Student Service Fund was started by Students who have A.P.O. numbers now—men on Guadalcanal and in Sicily, men in prison camps in Germany and in the Far East. It has been supported in the past six years by women and men now in the armed forces, in C.P.S. camps, in war industries, and in important civilian services. Students in colleges will carry on for them in the magnificent spirit in which the World Student Service was conceived and has always been supported.

Books For Prisoners

The money for W.S.S.F. will be spent to keep disorganized student groups and students in prison camps and relocation centers to continue their studies. The books, supplies, food, and other articles needed will be given them. A Swedish secretary of W.S.S.F. writes of his visit made to a large camp where there are 2000 U.S. Army Air Corps officers captured in Africa. He writes, "What our personal approach means to countless individual students was made very clear to me, as in a flash, when I was introduced to a young man with a very Nordic-sounding name, L. .... I had a brief chat with this lonesome and somewhat bewildered-looking law student, and told him that we would be glad to give him every possible help to continue his studies during his captivity. Like most of his fellow prisoners, this student had not yet received a single communication from home since being taken a prisoner four months previously. And now he was unexpectedly approached by a fellow student from the outside, offering personal and individual assistance for this particular intellectual need. 'My, this was a Godsend. I must say!' was his half-stammering reaction. 'I thought my time in this camp was going to be completely wasted!' His eyes were simply shining as he thanked me for this offer which to him meant a new ray of hope, a tiny bit of meaning in a meaningless world." And this is only one of a thousand stories like it.

Floyd Heads Drive

The committee for the drive was made up of Harriet Floyd, chairman; Geraldine Bower, secretary; Margaret Wilson, treasurer; and Jane Holland, publicity.

Jessies' Jive

Sadness reigned in Bell Hall last week. I suppose you heard about the funeral of Carolyn De Long. Pallbearers, mourner, guest book, and everything. It was really an illustrious funeral. (P.S. See the corps for further details.)

Have you seen a copy of the "Weakly Belle?" It's a weekly (not weakly) paper published by some of those ingenious Bell Hall girls. I haven't been able to find out who is the editor or any of the staff. I think Ann Fitzpatrick, Eugenia Hollingsworth, and other members of that suite are in charge. They say those sophomores are really out to win that "Golden Slipper"!

But then those freshmen are really gonna be hard to beat. At any rate the competition is bound to be fast and heated. Our peach from the faculty this week is Miss Hallie Smith. Have you seen her take-off on the faculty? It's really superb! She is a charming person with a most vivacious personality. If you've ever had a Humanities course under her you know how she can make those "dead Greeks" rise up and live. Her office is "five fathoms down" from the front auditorium entrance.

What cha know? Our editor's married! Congratulations Willie. O.K. staff, who'll be next? Well, I can hope can't I? Gloria Stone was one more popular girl last week. Twenty-eight letters at one mail. Results of a freshman initiation at Annapolis. Gee! These things should happen more often. Congratulations to Vivien Jackson; she is more than popular with one battalion of our great American army. She was chosen pin-up girl recently.

Louise Allen owns a pair of shoes that are really sompin'. They're handmade rawhide huarches, painted in true Mexican fashion. Louise brought them back from her honeymoon along with a collection of other Mexican handiwork.

Someday—maybe—we'll know how it feels to play Lucky and be lucky at one and the same time. Meanwhile, we'll just have to look at Frances Burroughs and sigh with admiration. Things I Like About People I Like: Ann Carmichael's hair... Harriet Thorpe's dimples... Betty Green's laugh... Ann Logan's quiet friendliness... Helen Aiken's piano technique... Moina Johnson's sense of humor.

Committees and chairmen for the freshman class are as follows: Production—Jane Knowles; Songs—Athlene Hill; Publicity—Henry Sims; House Committee—Anne Bullock. The judges will take into consideration the amount of publicity the play itself, and the amount of class spirit and enthusiasm which each class shows.

Freshmen Prove Good Sports As Juniors Make Them Jump

Rat Day was celebrated in true GSCW style when the "lowly" freshmen of 1943 were initiated by the Juniors recently. The Freshmen supplied ample proof of their good sportsmanship and showed for once for all that they were eligible to be called "Jessies."

The day began at 4:30 when the Juniors woke the Frosh to begin their day of penance. Each Freshman was required to wear her skirt upside down, her hair in a stocking, high heeled shoes, one sock, make-up on half her face, and one glove, and to carry her books in a suitcase throughout the day.

Freshmen were at the beck and call of Juniors all day, doing favors for them, singing the Freshmen Creed, and doing anything the Juniors could think of, from making beds on.

Rat Court was held in Peabody Auditorium at the end of the day. Mary Johnson presided over the court during the trials of about ten unruly freshmen. Each freshman was tried and sentenced by a solemn-faced jury of juniors.

Connie Howell was sentenced to wash out her mouth with soap. Sarah Pittard had to pay for her crimes by sitting on a coke bottle and washing clothes.

It was a great day—but just wait until those freshmen are juniors. That will be a great day.

SQUARE DANCE PLANNED SOON

"Bow to your partner.

"Do-ce-do right.

"Back to your place and promenade."

These are only a few of the things that will be happening at the big barn dance to be held December 4th in the big gym.

Who is giving it? Why the Folk Dance Club, of course.

Who is it for? It's for all the "Jessies" so don't miss out on it. Mark the date on your calendar now and vow to be there.

You won't regret it. The biggest event of the year!!! Watch for further announcements.

DR. TRIMMER SPEAKS

CCRA presented its first program Monday night, November 1. Dr. Maurice Trimmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Macon, spoke.

The A Capella Choir, under the direction of Mr. Noah, sang The Lord's Prayer.

Eugenia Hollingsworth presided.

Folk Dancers Visit Lake To Make Plans

The executive committee of the Folk Dance Club spent the weekend of the 23rd of October at Lake Laurel. Miss Whitney, club sponsor, and Christine Viozas acted as chaperones.

The purpose of the week-end was to plan the annual Barn Dance, sponsored by the club.

Those enjoying the week-end were: Beth Brooks, Evelyn Davis, Annie Mary Dudley, Frances Ezell, Ann Harris, Betty Grace Hodges, Myrtle Jackson, Waverly Knight, Mary Pierce Hammond, Mildred Sauls, Willene Walker.

ANDERSON ADDRESSES ELEMENTARY ED CLUB

The Elementary Education Club met last Tuesday with Miss Mary Lee Anderson, Principal of Peabody High school, who spoke on the West. Plans were made for the club to meet once a month to help with nursery school projects. Wednesday night the members will work on scrapbooks, collection of poems and stories, mounting of pictures.

TENNIS CLUB SELECTS FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Plans are being made for reorganization of the Tennis Club. Membership is now limited to 24. As a result of last Tuesday's try-outs, Elizabeth Knowles, Harriet Little, Elizabeth Wansley, and Esther Slappey were admitted to the club.
